Jonathan's practice at BB&L focuses on the defense of medical malpractice claims against physicians and other healthcare providers. He also represents clients on a range of corporate, commercial and regulatory matters for health care clients, including individual practitioners, private practice clinics, and multi-facility health systems, as well as for other non-profit organizations and commercial enterprises. Before joining BB&L, Jonathan practiced with a not-for-profit health care organization. After graduating with a Bachelor of Arts from the University of Washington, Jonathan received his Juris Doctor from the Seattle University School of Law. He also received a Master of Laws in health law from the University of Washington School of Law.
